How it works

Selkie board is a laminate faced decorative shower panel with an exterior grade MDF core. Available in either a Square Edge or Tongue & Groove, panels can either be slotted together with the use of sealant or instead through a combination of trims and sealant to form a watertight seal within your bathroom.

Technical Specification

Height	2420mm
Width	Square Edge 1200mm Tongue & Groove 1180mm
Thickness	11mm
Jointing	Square edge Tongue and Groove
Fire Rating	Class 2 surface spread of flame, as standard BS476 part 7

Which edge should I select for my project?

Square edge panels are clean cut and must be joined via trims (found within our bathroom accessories section), these are most typically used to complete shower areas.

Meanwhile, Tongue and Grooved panels are designed to slot into each other, allowing for panels to be applied to larger wall spaces creating an inconspicuous joint.

Please note: During a Tongue & Groove panel installation, it is recommended that Selkie colour match sealant is used on all joints.

Installation

Supplied as a complete panel system, the installation of any Selkie shower panel product is both quick and easy, in comparison to other traditional methods. As well as our boards, we offer a range of complementary installation aids to ensure a professional looking finish. All products listed are in-stock and available to buy. An installation guide is supplied within the packaging of all Selkie panels. The guide can also be easily downloaded from our website.

Selkie Panel Adhesive and Silicones

Designed to last, Rears's shower panel adhesive and silicones bring confidence when bonding panels to horizontal walls or joining boards.

Drying in a matter of minutes, these products have flexible characteristics, this product accommodate both thermal expansion and vibrations without causing any damage to your wall or the panel bond.

Available to buy as single 300ml tubes or in a multipack box of 12.

Selkie Panseal Trim

An aesthetic join between the board and shower tray, panels simply rest in a slightly raised position within the trim, whilst the pre-applied silicone bond-breaker is placed below and forms a protective barrier. Not only does this avoid the deterioration of silicone, due to soaps and temperature fluctuations, but also allows for substantial joint movement between the wall and shower tray or bath ledge, without leakage.

The Panseal trim is available in 1.8m lengths.

Selkie TopSeal Colour Match Sealant

Produced bespoke for Rears, our range of colour match sealants has been scientifically formulated and tested to resist moisture, detergent, and other household products.

Sealant is available to buy as singular 290ml tubes. One tube of sealant will cover the installation of approximately 5x Tongue & Groove Selkie shower panels.

Please note, this product is only recommended for application to the Tongue & Groove joint.

Selkie Panel Trims

To suit a variety of bathroom shapes, we stock a range of panel trims to assist in the cladding of an area. Select from our range of internal and external corners, as well as end caps and H-sections.

All trims are available in either a black or white powder coated finish, as well as Satin Aluminium or Polished Chrome and are supplied individually in lengths of 2420mm.

Our Selkie Installation Guide, including both Square Edge and Tongue & Groove instructions, can be downloaded directly from www.rearo.co.uk.

Internal Corner

Mainly found within shower enclosures, our Selkie internal corner trim is used as a connection between two panels in inward facing corner areas.

End Cap

An essential part in any Selkie shower panel installation, end caps are used to finish any exposed board edges.

External

For those planning on a full bathroom installation, our Selkie External trim caters to outward facing corner areas.

H- Section

Join square edge shower panels together easily with the use of our H-section trim. Boards are simply slotted into position.
